Portable Oxygen Concentrator

Physician's Form

For your information

Transport Canada regulations require that all passengers needing the use of a portable oxygen concentrator (POC) on-board our flights carry this completed document when they travel. This document is intended to provide a written statement from your physician that you require a POC. It must be completed by your physician in its entirety, and is valid for one year from the date on the form.

For a list of all permitted POCs, please visit the Special Travel Requirements and Passenger Assistance page on our website, located under Travel Information.

Please keep this form with you while you travel. You will need to present it to an Air North representative at check-in, and it may also be requested by a flight attendant while on-board the aircraft.

You are responsible for your POC and batteries, and must carry enough battery power for 1.5 times your total travel time. Please take the following into consideration:

- Time spent in airport prior to and following your flight, as well as during connections
- · Flight time
- The possibility of unexpected delays
- NOTE: A higher flow rate (LPM) may be required depending upon the cabin pressure once the aircraft reaches a cruise altitude. Typically, the cabin is adjusted to 8,000 feet above sea level.

To be completed by your physician

1.	Does the user of the POC have the physical and cognitive ability to see, hear, and understand the device's aural and visual cautions and warnings, and respond accordingly without assistance?
	YES	NO NO
2.	Is oxygen use necessary at all times while in the airport and on-board the aircraft?
	YES	NO
	If No, please specify with the POC is required (e.g., during flight).
